manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch | No. 1102 Hull Street | After a little discussion by members of the Board of Aldermen, and some protests by citizens, the license ordinance as it came from the Common Council, was concurred in by the Board last night, and the only thing that remains to make it a law now is the signature of the

There is no reason to think that he will voto the measure.

The fiscal year begins on May 1st, and all licenses must be paid at that time, The new ordinance puts the liquor license at $100; it was formerly $30. A special license on cigars and tobacco also goes into effect.*

Mr. D. L. Toney, before the vote was Mr. D. L. Toney, before the vote was taken, opposed the measure in a vigorous speech. He said that even under the present license fees the merchants of Manchester could scarcely make a living, mainly because of the proximity of the city to Richmond. He said that liquor dealers had to sell for five cents what was paid ten for in flichmond, and that niost of the "swell" drinkers went to Richmond to get their drinks.

The ordinance was adopted without a single amendment, notwithstanding the protest,

MR. SAMPSON DECLINES.

Mr. A. L. Sampson, one of the most valuable members of the lower branch of the Council, from the Second Ward, announced last night that he would not be a candidate for re-election.

"Business and social reasons appeal to me in my action," said Mr. Sampson.

"I prefer devoting more attention to my family, although my interest in the welfare of the city will still be as strong as ever."

Mr. Härry Owen said last night that he had decided to become a candidate for the Council from the Second Ward.

VOTE MAY BE CLOSE.

It was stated on the streets and in the resorts last night that the vote for Mayor would be close. Mayor Maurice's friends claim he will be elected by his usual majority, while the friends of Mr. Davidson aver that he will surprise the doughty Mayor.

The registration is scarcely 500, and it was said by a close observer that the vote would not go above 350.

One of the leading liquor men said last night that he would urge the merchants whose licenses were raised by the new ordinance to put up a Council ticket as a whole, or part, and endorse some of the present members.

Another said that he thought a majority of the merchants would prefer to let the thing go as it was, without going into politics.

At any rate, the question will probably be discussed, and there may be a sen-

Ining go as it was, without going into politics.

You have discovered just what we have been anxious for, it not only heals the mucous membrane, but stimulates the blood, regulates the bowols, soothes the nerves, tones up the system and keeps the entire body in a normal, healthy condition.

Dr. Buckle is an Englishman, who was educated for the ministry at the Union Theological Seminary. He was licensed by Lexington Presbytery at Mossy Creek, near Stauton, in 1833, and for some time remained in the Southern churches, his first work being in Highland county. He was later called to Hancock, Md.
He was at one time a stenographer and was a brilliant student and had wonderful knowledge of the Bible. One of his daughters is now at school at Chatham, Va.

gation of the protests against Senater Reed Smeet. Judge Powers said he had examined persons who applied for naturalization. In regard to an application by one Neil Hanson, Judge Powers said he was informed by Hanson that he would obey the laws of the church rather than the laws of the land if they should "run counter of each other." The application for clitzenship was denied. Judge Powers reviewed the political history of Utah to show the close relation of the Mormon church with political affairs; also the intimate association of the church with local and municipal governments. He showed that the church controlled in civil as well as ecclesiastical affairs, in one case it was shown that a man was disciplined and summoned by Abraham C. Smoot, president of the high council of the Utah Stake of Zion. It was not shown that any relationship existed between Senator Smoot and the man mentioned. Judge Powers spoke of Thatcher's candidacy for the Senate, and said that four days after Thatcher announced himself on a platform opposed to church interference policies, he was deposed as an apostle. After his defeat an effort was unsuccessful, and according to the witness, Thatcher then was made to recant his antigonistic view of church interference. The witness told of two teachers in Mormon churches and schools being deposed from their ecclesiastical authority because their political preferences were James Charles Bowen, who peadled tickets at a school being deposed from their ecclesiastical authority because their political preferences were James Charles Bowen, who peadled tickets at a school election for candidates opposed by the church, and Nichol Hood, who wrote a letter adversely criticising the election of Reed Smeot to the Senate on the grounds that high church authorities should not accept such positions. The committee adjourned until to-morrow. HEARST IS AFTER ATTORNEY GENERAL

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 22.—"The Attorney-General has been brooding over that evidence like an old hen on a door knob for eighteen months. He has not acted in any way and won't let anybody take it away from him." Representative William Randolph Henrst made this statement before the Committee on the Judiciary in arguing for a favorable report on his resolution calling on the Attorney-General for the evidence against the anthractic coal carrying rallroads, which includes the report of the United States district attorneys for the Southern District of New York, which Mr. Hearst says was that a case had been made out. Mr. Hearst demanded that action should be taken either by the Attorney-General with a view to securing action against these roads under the Sheyman anti-truse act. The committee referred the Hearst resolution, a subcommittee for further consideration, a subcommittee for further consideration,

LECTURE AT SEMINARY

Dr. Stalker Distinguished Scotch Author and Preacher, Begins Course.

WAS A SPLENDID AUDIENCE

Ministers From Several Sections There and Many Richmond Clergymen Attend.

In the presence of a distinguished and cultured gathering of ladies and gentlemen, some of whom are here from long distances, the Rev. Professor James Stalker, D. D., of Aberdeen, Scotland, last night at Union Theological Seminary. in this city, made his first appearance before a Southern audience.

For some time past the visit of Dr. Stalker, who is perhaps the best known theological writer in the world, has been a pleasant anticipation by the denominations of Richmond and of the country at large. He comes to America under the suspices of the Presbyterians specifically to deliver the course of free lec-tures in this city and upon the occasion tures in this city and upon the occasion of his first address, the Seminary chapel was filled with a notable company of ministers and laymen. The Richmond pasters of all creeds attended in large force and many others from different sections of the country were present to hear the distinguished Scotch writer. One or two came from as far away as Pennsylvania and there were a number from the South.

the South.

The members of the Seminary The members of the Seminary were, of course, present. There were quite a large number of ladies and gentlemen from Richmond. Among the out-of-town ministers were the Rev. William Black, of North Carolina; the Rev. T. E. Gillespie, of Greensboro, N. C.; the Rev. Mr. Clegs, of Statesville, N. C.; the Rev. Mr. Clegs, of Statesville, N. C.; the Rev. Mr. Semple, of Titusville, Pa.; the Rev. E. E. Lane, of Bedford City, and several others. A few of the Richmond ministers present were the Revs, W. R. L. Smith, D. D.; R. B. Eggieston, Russell Cecil, D. D.; C. S. Gardner, D. D.; W. S. Campbell, Robert Strange, D. D.; Jero Witherspoon, D. D.; J. Calvin Stewart, D. D.; Thomas Semmes, Gordon B. Moore, D. D.; A. L. Phillips, D. D.; R. H. Pett, D. D.; George Cooper, D. D., and others.

Moore, D. D.; A. L. Phillips, D. D.; R. H. Pitt, D. D.; George Cooper, D. D., and others.

THE FIRST LECTURE.
The general subject of the series, which will continue through Wednesday of next week, is "The Ethical Teaching of Jesus Christ." In the first lecture Dr. Stalker cleared away the ground and made the preliminary explanations that were necessary to an approach to the subject litself. He is a rapid speaker, with a pleasant Scotch accent, and every now and then warms up thoroughly to his subject. The thought that he utters is weighty, yet marvelously clear, and his sentences, rich in deep wisdom, followed each other in quick succession, carrying homo to nearly every one.

During the forty minutes, or thereabouts, in which he spoke, Dr. Stalker alsewing the protection of the lecture he showed the scope of the science of ethics understood from old to have been concerned with three subjects—the Highest Good, Virtue, Duty. The range of each of these three he then pointed out, and with truly remarkable facility explained and clasorated until it was plain and clear to all what the Aberdeen scholar meant by ethics, in which field he is in later lectures to show the teachings of Jesus Christ.

"The dreason why I have considered it desirable to dwell so long on this description of the ethical field," he said, is because this is the territory in which Jesus as a teacher moves, and the questions suggested are those on which

Jesus as a teacher moves, and the questions suggested are those on which desis as a teacher moves, and the ques-tions suggested are those on which guidance from film is received.

"Thus," he continued, "have I given a bird's-eye-view of the scope of ethics and of the different fields into which its vast territory is divided; although care-ful ethical philosophers are wont to point out that the three ideas of the Highest good, virtue and duty-do not designate different parts of the territory so much as different points of view for the sur-vey of the same territory. The entire field of ethics can be seen from each of these points of view. Thus, for example, virtue, can be contemplated under the point of view of a good or under the point of view of a duty; and the other leading ideas may, with a little ingeleading ideas may, with a little ingelifference between the three things. The of the others. Yet there is a wine difference between the three things. The highest good is the end of moral action; virtue, a character, is the animating force by which this goal is to be obtained; and duty prescribes the path along which the end must be sought."

A GREAT REVIVAL.

In closing his lecture Dr. Hatcher referred to a condition in the theological world of very great interest. The words with which he closed were:

"It is my belief that in the evangelical churches we are on the brink of a great revival of ethical preaching, and especially that in the near future the question of the ethical conceptions of Jesus Christ will command the attention of all thoughtful Christians. It is on this account that I have ventured to select this as the subject of the present course of lectures. But I am not one of those who think that ethical ought to be divorced from dogmatic teaching. On the contrary, infinite loss to the church has in the past resulted from such divorce. Many voices may be heard at present denouncing the barrenness of dogmatic separated from dogmatic teaching may be equally barren. That for which the world is walting is a union of both."

OPPOSED TO GIVING UNIONS PRIVILEGED POSITIONS

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, April 22.—The House of Commons to-day passed the second reading, by 23s to 199 votes of the Trades Union bill, legalizing peaceful picketing and amending the law of conspiracy in connection with trade disputes and protecting Trades Union funds against legal process for damage caused by the action of members of such unions. The bill is the outcome of the recent judgment of the court in the Taff-Vale railway case.

Premier Balfour said he was opposed to the bill which would give trades unions a privileged position not enjoyed by any other body of men.

Winston Spencer Churchill spoke in support of the measure, but towards the close he suddenly lost the thread of his argument and after a pause of some moments, during which he thrice essayed to resume, Mr. Churchill sat down in some confusion, without finishing, and amid sympathetic cheers. WASHINGTON, D. C., April 22.—The stormiest session in the history of the national society of the Daughters of the American Revolution occurred to-day, when the thirteenth Continental Congress formally exonerated Miss Harriet Baird-Huey, of Philadelphia, of the charges made against her personal and official character by Mrs, Thomas Roberts, former State regent of Pennsylvania, and declared that the charges constituted gross injustice. This action was taken by the adoption of a report of the judicial committee, which was empowered to investigate the charges which have caused wide dissention in the ranks of the Daughters. A determined effort was made to visit punishment on those who participated in the circulation of the charges, Mrs. Edwin Orton, Jr., of Columbus, Ohio, moved a vote of censure at the afternoon session, and although it was lost on an aye and may vote, the climmpions of Miss Huey announced they would take up the matter again. The election of these officers was announced:

WILL UNDERWRITE CHEMICAL STOCK

(Special to The Times Dispatch.)

NEW YORK, April 22.—While arrangements have not yet been fully completed, it is understood that a syndicate of local banking interests will be formed to take up whatever proportion of the Virginia-Carolina Company's new preferred stock issue is not subscribed for by the stock-holders. A banker who is interested in the matter said to-day that full details would probably be arranged some time next week. Of the total of $8,000,000 stock to be authorized at the meeting May 18th, only $8,000,000, it is authoritatively stated, will be issued at the present time. It is to be offered to stockholders at par. The bankers who made the loan to the company last year, it is said, will probably compose the syndicate to be formed for underwriting the new stock issue.
